

ALL IN or ALL GONE

PROTECT YOUR FARM.
PROTECT YOUR LIVELIHOOD.

#1

Highly pathogenic avian influenza (HPAI) is real. And while there are currently no known cases in Tennessee, it is critical that everyone working on poultry farms should follow strict biosecurity measures to prevent HPAI from making its way onto Tennessee farms. The economic impact across the state could be devastating.

ALL IN means ALL OF US practicing biosecurity measures ALL THE TIME.

Catching avian influenza on your farm means your chickens are ALL GONE. The flock will be depopulated, and your farm will be quarantined.

Help us help you by educating ALL of your farm workers and ensuring they follow simple, preventative biosecurity procedures ALL the time, every time. We are all in this together. Protect your farm. Protect your livelihood.

Be on the lookout for biosecurity tips and other information about avian influenza in the coming weeks and months.
